Ninth Imperium Gastunum Jam Session in Bad Gastein

The winter definitely has arrived in the Alps now and therefore the contest season as well. Nearly every weekend a contest is scheduled which would be worth a visit. The same applies for Bad Gastein. There, the preparations for the Imperium Gastunum Jam Session have started already. On February 19th freeskiers and snowboarders will battle for the glorious victory at this 2star Ticket To Ride contest.

The event, organized by the Sports club Imperium Gastunum, takes place the ninth time and, as in previous years, a massive freestyle park will be prepared on the famous Buchebenwiese. Flo Wieser from the Pickings Fam is headshaper again and we will see if the 13 meter Monster-Gap from last year can be enhanced.

The riders compete for a total of 2500 Euro of prize money as well as for points for the TTR World Snowboard Tour. Also, the young guns can gain points for the World Rookie Tour (born in 1992 and younger). To push the riders even more, exceptional tricks will be rewarded with fresh cash. A great show can be expected!

Another highlight awaits the crowd after the contest - the exceptional Ska-Punk band Lucky Strikes Back will perform a live show directly at the contest area. For everyone who still has energy then, a couple of After-Contest-Parties will take place all over Bad Gastein.

About the organizer:

In the year 2004 a bunch of Gastunian snowboarders established the Sports club Imperium Gastunum with the declared goal to bring trendsports, in particular snowboarding, forward. The main achievement is the Jam Session, an annual Freestyle Contest on the Buchebenwiese in Bad Gastein.
